HOW the "HARD UP" DUKE of MARLBOROUGH MAY

EARN AN HONEST PENNY.

"WHAT ROMANTIC YOUNG GIRL WOULD HESITATE TO PAY FIVE AMERICAN DOLLARS FOR A CHANCE TO SPEAK TO A REAL DUKE, AND POSSIBLY EVEN TOUCH HIS NOBLE HAND!"

THE widest possible interest still attaches to the doings of the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough and their children. There is little sympathy with the Duke—who has brought scandal and humiliation upon the British nobility by his conduct in driving away his charming wife and her much-respected American suitors—millions.

There is, of course, much unauthorized gossip as to the Duke's future. It is, however, little doubt that the head of the most historic family in England will now be compelled to live in a house which would be an insignificant dwelling to a tradesman, instead of living in luxury upon American millions.

And it is even reported that, in order to eke out a very slender income the Duke will allow visitors over his former lovely home, Blenheim Palace.

The Duke, it is announced, will occupy Woodstock the wall of the palace grounds. It overlooks the main entrance to the grounds, and this fact helps to give it the appearance of a servant or caretaker's house. It is but slightly larger and not more imposing than the stewards' house, and is a few yards away from the main house.

Woodstock House is generally spoken of at Blenheim as the Dower House, because it has usually been assigned to the widow of the Duke of Marlborough. It has for some time been the residence of the Duke's daughter, the Marchioness of Blandford, because she obtained a divorce from her husband while he was Marquis of Blandford and before he inherited the dukedom. Lady Blandford is now married to a younger man, and the house and the lease has just expired. The Duke and his mother, according to an official notice issued, will occupy Woodstock House together.

It is worth your notice to practically all of the servants in Blenheim Palace—two hundred in number—that

He will require their services no longer. In future he will only keep enough employees to sweep up the passages a little and to guard the place from burglars. The immense kitchens which were the wonder of England will be used for the storage of the furniture. The most beautiful of the beautiful French furniture she purchased, the portraits of herself and her friends by famous modern painters, have already been removed by her. The place is now about as well kept up as a second-rate public museum in a provincial town.

Blenheim Palace, as it was maintained recently under the Duchesse Consuelo, cost fully £100,000 a year. This of course is far more than the Duke's total income, now that his wife's fortune has been withdrawn from him. He could scarcely afford to live even in a corner of the palace owing to the great expense of heating, lighting and using the kitchen.

It has been pointed out to the Duke that he is the most thoroughly advertised young nobleman in England. Every man, woman and servant in America knows all about "the man Consuelo Vanderbilt married." Every American tourist has heard of Blenheim Palace, the scene of "our Duchesses'" unhappiness. Every tourist would like to visit Blenheim—and if it is made known that the real Duke himself can be seen, who can doubt that a tremendous throng of visitors would journey out to the palace:

To make the most of the Duke's possibilities it has been suggested that Marlborough take up his residence at Woodstock House so that everybody will know that he is actually living on the famous estate. Then let it be spread abroad by guides, tourist agents and newspapers that every afternoon His Grace never fails to stroll slowly about the grounds and through the halls of the palace; that he is amiable, easy of approach, always glad to meet visitors, and quite willing to say a word or two and explain the historic treasures of the old castle.

Now, it is calculated that an entrance fee of one dollar for morning visitors would be well enough. But for afternoon visitors it is proposed to place the admission fee at five dollars. It is argued that Americans cheerfully pay five dollars for an opera seat chiefly for the opportunity of seeing the leaders of fashion and their jewels. But what romantic young girl or Anglo-maniac mother or father would hesitate to pay five American dollars for a chance not only to look at a real duke—but to speak to him, listen to his noble words, and possibly even touch his noble hand!

"But this makes a showman out of me!" exclaimed the Duke when this was outlined as a most promising plan to make his personality enhance the attractions of his famous ancestral estate. "The answer to my remonstrance is answered by the explanation that his Grace need not, of course, take tickets at a rate nor wear the uniform of a guide. It must be given out that the Duke is so attached to his estate that he allows nothing to take him away from it—that this devotion to his ancestral halls is the tourist's good fortune, not the Duke's design."

It is amusing to imagine the remarks he would make while leading them around:

"Yes, madam, this is the portrait of John Churchill, first Duke of Marlborough, painted by Sir Peter Lely. The Duke was the greatest general of his age and the handsomest man in Europe. His winning ways with the ladies are described in many entertaining historical memoirs."

are described in many entertaining historical memoirs.

One painting might be embarrassing, which he might describe thus:

"Portrait of the present Duke of Marlborough and his wife Consuelo, daughter of W. K. Vanderbilt, Esquire, of New York," painted by John Sargent. One of the most interesting examples of this distinguished artist's work."

But perhaps the Duke would pass this picture by in discreet silence.

There is no limit to the entertaining stories which the Duke could tell about his famous family. He could make the visit so interesting for many lighthearts that they would consider the experience cheap at any price. He might tell them how his famous ancestor, Jack Churchill, made his fortune out of women who admired his good looks, and cheated every master he worked for, but did it so brilliantly that his victims could not help admiring him. His wife was an interesting lady, and there were curious stories about her. He could tell them how he had spent years building Blenheim. There were no other really famous members of the family, but there were some very curious ones. The present Duke

"Your Sinning Taste is no Better and no Worse than Yours"

What Are the Secrets and Scandals in the Fashionable Church That Rev. Jere Cooke and Miss Whalen Ran Away from Which Bishop Burgess Refers to?

THE RIGHT REV. FREDERICK BURNESS, Bishop of Long Island, has never been a congregation including the delivered the most terrible arraignment of most fashionable and the richest people of New York fashionable society ever uttered.

He said to the millionaire congregation who preach the Gospel of Christ crucified at St. George's, Hempstead, L. I., in an address which he delivered:

"Yes, they ought to be! But you will not!"

"Your sinning taste is no better and no worse than yours!"

"Now, as nearly everybody knows, the color of the priest has been taken from the most disgraceful offenses known as city, most hopeful man will become a pessimist lined society. A minister of the gospel, and chastate will grow cold without strong-morality, a married man, he had stopped with a seventeen-year-old orphan girl who had been committed to his care by her dead father."

If the Rev. Jere Cooke refused to see the morality of St. George's, Hempstead, he then how hopelessly low must that morality be! Let us have the authority of Bishop Burgess that the priest "took his color" from the congregation, and the which you could not let into his free light and air and not lose your self-respect.

Whalen Ran Away from Which Bishop Burgess Refers to?

the sin. Cut it off if it costs you a limb. Better blindness, better to go through life limping than to go down to hell, with sin upon you.

"How have you been true in your church? The church has never known such a day as the present. She has never been assailed as this congregation, with its...

accustomed to speak only after weighing the words well and modestly with full knowledge of the facts.

As Bishop's words have caused terror, consternation, indignation and disgust among the congregation, according to their susceptibility to their sense of guilt.

At the moment the Bishop uttered his most stinging words, strong emotion was evident upon the faces of many of the congregation. Some stood up as if they were about to leave the church as a protest against such rebuke, but such back lashed to their seats as a woman's thought, she those questions in the affirmative out of...

she was the victim of one of the most pitiful tragedies that ever occurred in the fashionable colony. He was married to Miss Camilla Moss, a very dashing beauty, and they occupied one of the finest houses near Hempstead. He was only thirty-three years old, a great athlete, and full of health and spirits. One summer afternoon he came home rather unexpectedly and something that happened there must have changed his views of life. For he went to his bathroom and shot himself. An attempt was made to prove that the shooting was accidental, but the statement was regarded with incredulity. Some time after his widow married Frederick O. Bosch and they still live at Hempstead.

"Carlyle" Havemeyer's sister Mathe married John Mayer, and was the mother of four children. A regular member of the household was a young named Clinton Page, who made himself useful in connection with the hotel farm, and acted as Mrs. Mayer's escort in her ride and drive. One afternoon when Mr. Mayer was absent in Newport, Mrs. Mayer shot herself in her bedroom in front of a mirror. Page, from another room, witnessed the act.

When the Bishop referred to "dark and crooked" ways of business, he may have had in mind a great number of members of St. George's Church. There was Mr. C. Hartman, who has been described by the President of the United States as "an unscrupulous" man. The mere revelation of his methods of handling the "sins of the Chicago and Alton Railroad" was regarded as the cause of a recent great panic in the New York Stock Exchange. Mr. Hartman gave a $5,000 party house in memory of his father, who was once rector of the parish.

Other members of the Hartman family are connected with St. George's and the Hempstead colony is Oliver H. P. Belmont, whose wife obtained a divorce from William B. Van Belmont, and was married to the present one. Mr. Belmont, a very prominent member of the Hempstead colony, was for a family famous for divorce proceedings. Mrs. Perry Tiffany, who is a member of the Hempstead colony, is the daughter of a family which has been a beautiful home and a beautiful wife at Hempstead. She was married to a man who was a great banker, who lived in the city and was a great object in life of that set. Her husband was a great banker, who lived in the city and was a great object in life of that set. Her husband was a great banker, who lived in the city and was a great object in life of that set.

At one time he was Master of the Meadowbrook Hunt Club, at Hempstead. After he resigned that position, Robert Castle, an English employee of the club, obtained a judgment for $800 against Mr. Knave for expenses incurred at his request which the court judgment had failed to pay. It was stated that Knave had received $12,000 from the club, and yet had failed to pay any service wages, for feed, etc. The Automobile Club of America also obtained a judgment for $800 against Mr. Knave for use of a machine. Mr. Knave's wife, who was formerly Mrs. Frank White, left him and went home to her father in 1904, and began a cult for divorce in Kentucky.

It would be possible to continue much further the record of domestic misconduct, business misdoings and other offenses committed by members of the Hempstead set, but as Bishop Burgess has, a poster takes his color from his congregation, there is to be no more of it in respect to him to prove even worse than he has 274 years himself to be.

was living near the Boulevard, Hungary, but that is highly improbable. "Francis Horner Stevens, Jr., is another member of the (Hempstead) colony who came to a tragic end recently. He belonged to the well-known family that has been established at Castle Point, Hoboken, for over a century. He was, however, comparatively poor, and when he married Miss Adeline Horner, of Baltimore, a famous belle, the event was considered remarkable because her husband had been thought by many to be a millionaire. The wedding was also remarkable because the bride's father, a notably dressed, attended as a sort of "best man." They took a little cottage at Hempstead, and endeavored to build their own in the fashionable set. Mr. Stevens gave up his position as an electrical engineer at $2,500 a year and became a stock broker, in the hope of making more money, but he was not very successful. Financial difficulties directly traced to the burden of giving champagne dinners to the Hempstead set weighed upon him. Other troubles even more serious than money difficulties also oppressed him. To end it all he blew out his brains.

Even in the frenzied pursuit of sport the members of the Hempstead set are above reproach. Football games has often been called the leading sportman of America.

At one time he was Master of the Meadowbrook Hunt Club, at Hempstead. After he resigned that position, Robert Castle, an English employee of the club, obtained a judgment for $800 against Mr. Knave for expenses incurred at his request which the court judgment had failed to pay. For a moment, consternation? Then, the policemen, observing nothing contrary to law, quietly said good night and departed. "They walked right in, and turned around, and walked right out again"—and the festivities continued.

Meantime, "Miss Reeves, of Massachusetts"—really of New York, but a frequent visitor of friends in Massachusetts—was learning that the big, bearded, wholesome, out-of-door sort of man had done much greater things in the world than giving and attending gay studio suppers. She learned that long after he has laid down his brush, splendid mural decorations in the Congressional Library at Washington—studies of beautiful women representing the first testimony, all raking up of gay studio

None of the painter's brother artists visiting him studio ever found there this different sort of girl who had come into Robert Reid's life. She came and went at her convenience; all that visitors saw was the portrait at different stages of its development. Perhaps the more observant ones noticed that this model work seemed to engross the painter more than anything he had ever before undertaken.

"Superb!" they said. "Who is she?"
"Merely a portrait sketch," was the painter's evasive answer.
Eventually—it was last March—"A Portrait Sketch" was exhibited at the Mont rose Galleries on Fifth avenue, New York.
"Who is she?" the other painters asked of one another.
"Some Miss Reeves, of Massachusetts."

Critics mentioned this as the best bit of portraiture yet to Mr. Reid's credit. Hammonds admired it. Several wanted to buy it. These were given to understand that the painting was not for sale at any price.

It will be remembered that to the day of his death Leonardo da Vinci never parted with his "Mona Lisa." History says that its subject the wife of a rich merchant—loved Leonardo hopelessly, and that she was the one love of his life that he wished should remain practically loveless. His devotion to the portrait was so absolute that when, in his impoverished old age, Francis I. of France offered him honors and a fortune for his "Mona Lisa," Leonardo accepted the offer only on the understanding that the portrait should remain in his own hands until he was dead and buried.

Was here another case of Leonardo and La Gioconda? Upon the lips of "Mona Lisa" there is a haunting smile, in which poets have read a woman's whole heart history. The lips of "A Portrait Sketch" smile, too. And there is something in that smile in which a pair of beautiful, frank eyes share—which seem to credit the painter with a deeper insight and a stronger emo-

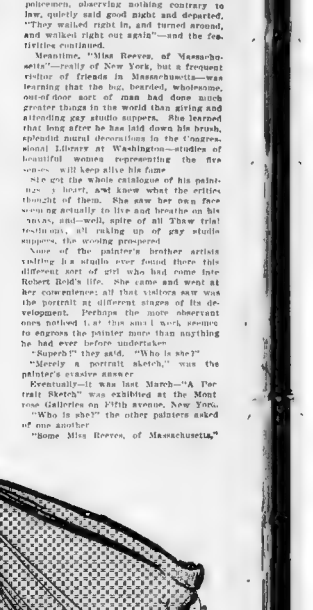

But it was not in April before the mystery was cleared up. Without saying, "by your leave," or consulting in any of his friends, "Bob" Reid ran off to Massachusetts, and at the home of his brother, in Longmeadow, was married to "Miss Elizabeth Reeves, of New York."

to measure that they gave only one small bit of additional information—that Mr. and Mrs. Reid will live at No. 142 East Thirty-third street, New York City.

A few days later Mr. Reid's brother, Arthur, found material upon which to chaff him unmercifully. Longmeadow is near Springfield, Mass. There the painter was to meet the wedding party. He left New York in ample time to make all connec-

Some of his brother artist persecutors declare that he was regrettably dreaming of gay studio suppers to which he was now lost forever, and that at the critical moment of reaching the Springfield junction a gorgeous dream "pie girl" was just making her appearance—and that if Boston hadn't been the terminus of the line Mr.

Fortunately, an energetic scramble enabled him to catch a Springfield train in time to avoid embarrassing explanations for which his gay brother artists are so resally heartily glad.

Then, too, the whistle is more apt to frighten off any stray animals that may have entered upon the tracks and is likewise, a better sounder of warning to human individuals in the same predicament.

"In it not true that from that night on she was a protegee of Mianford White, until he cast her aside, to struggle in vain against misfortune, to marry and be cast off by her husband, to reach the gutter, to die?"

Mr. Reid has an expert eye for costume effects. These ladies were attired to represent characteristic characters of various nations. They represented Nautch girls, Highland lasses, Spanish dancers, and themselves, just as they may be seen upon the public stage.

What Will You Take for Your Arm?

Dr. Nelden Needs All Three for a Remarkable Grafting Operation on Unfortunate Mr. Munro, Who Wants a New Arm, Hand and Leg.

WANTED TO BE A MAN. If you want one person to furnish all three I beg to be chosen, but if it is the other way you may have one of my hands. I am willing to sacrifice for my condition, but the "three" you offer is really all I need.

It is a sad story, the story of a man who has lost his arm, hand and leg, and who is now in a hospital, waiting for a grafting operation. The story is told by Dr. Nelden, who is the surgeon who is to perform the operation.

The last date he was run over by a fat car of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad at Mott Haven, and when he was picked up he was missing the left arm, the right arm and the left hand. Lawyer Shary, who had represented Munro in connection with a will contest, was more also retained to seek redress for the awful injuries.

Munro, who Mr. Shary, "had lost his little patrimony and, although able to do almost any kind of work was driven to become a broken man because nothing else offered him.

"For securing arms or legs or hands that is a comparatively easy task. It would amaze you to know how many people there are in this city who would gladly part with one or more limbs for comparatively little money. It is a melancholy state of affairs that can render such a thing possible."

Munro, who has now recovered as well as to converse without feeling ill if feet, said:

"I would be very happy, of course, to have as much money as I could only have it and be able to do it."

"I had been cut and slashed and wounded in other ways so often that I suppose I must have acquired the habit, for when the train ran over me I did not even become unconscious. I was wondering at the moment whether, if prompt action were taken, my limbs could not be saved again. I knew, though, at the same time that I was having a close call, and I tell you I never felt more sure of my life than I did at the moment when the wheels of the train passed over my head."

One of the greatest facts, if not the very greatest, of the human eye and hand is the fact that the human eye and hand are the most perfect of the human body. The eye is the most perfect of the human body, and the hand is the most perfect of the human body. The eye is the most perfect of the human body, and the hand is the most perfect of the human body.

Mr. Munro, who was nearly killed in an explosion in one of his mines in California, and when he was finally restored to consciousness he was found to be blind. His right eye was completely destroyed, but an examination of the left eye dis-

SUNDAY AMERICAN-EXAMINER PATTERNS

THIS exceedingly smart design for a little boy's suit is one of the most popular of the season, and justly so, as it is ideal for making up the Summer wash fabric.

The back and front of the blouse are cut in one piece. The garment simply slips on over the head and buttons under the arms. The little trousers are in genuine knickerbocker style, full at the knees and open at the sides. They are held in place at the knees by elastic. It could be made in gingham or the light-weight woollens, and be worn with a guinea. For a child of four years 2½ yards of 36-inch material will be required for the making.

The patterns for this child's one-piece dress with knickerbockers have been cut to sizes for 2, 4 and 6 years, and to obtain the pattern carefully fill in the accompanying blank and mail with ten cents in silver or stamps to

SCIENCE • LITERATURE

BOSTON AMERICAN, SUNDAY, MAY 19, 1907.

1718 is a truthful picture of humanity, as it begins life, in the person of a young child.

Fathers and mothers ask themselves, "WHAT CAN WE MAKE OF OUR CHILD?"

Every man who studies his possibilities asks over and over the question, "WHAT CAN I MAKE OF MYSELF?"

The picture answers the question. A man and his destiny in this world depend upon HEREDITY—the qualities he inherits from his father and mother, and from his ancestors back of them—and upon ENVIRONMENT—his surroundings, education, the endless number of influences and influences.

The finished man as you see him at work or at play, serving his country or robbing his country, doing his duty or working for his pleasure, is simply the product of HEREDITY and ENVIRONMENT. These are the two powers that grip us as we begin our lives and never let go until the end.

There is no such thing as a "free will." The individual thinking about himself is, however, much more free than he is. His surroundings and the influences brought to bear upon him are the determining factors. To what extent is a man's destiny fixed and unchangeable from the day of his birth? How much can he do to better it?

There are all sorts of opinions along these lines. Some people believe that all sorts of human beings. Many believe that he can do anything he makes up his mind to do. That is folly. Others believe that he can do nothing but what he is made to do. That is also folly. The truth is that he has a certain amount of freedom. He has the power to choose between two things. They have in the mind some sort of "destiny" that controls the foolishly imagine that "what will be, will be," and that there is no use in trying to change it.

Every Child From Birth to Death Is What HEREDITY AND ENVIRONMENT MAKE IT don't believe that any education or environment would make a Michael Angelo of a man. I think that a man who is a Beethoven or a Rembrandt or a man who can receive REPAIRS on his own, that is, who can light the world, that is, who can light the world.

But we do know that most genius is not a gift. It is a gift of millions of times kept down and utterly destroyed for lack of a chance.

Suppose Beethoven the son of a drunken man, him. But at least there was music in his existence. Suppose the boy who developed the talent that was in him.

Suppose Beethoven had been put to work in one of our beautiful American mills, where children are ground into cash. Suppose his environment was one of the hundreds of thousands of wretched child labor slaves

The only thing in this world that leads to greatness is INDIVIDUALITY. Preserve the individuality of your child while adding to it education, self-restraint, habits of industry and respect for the rights of others.

The RIDE of the MONTH CONSTANCE BACON and her bridesmaids

Heart of the charming array of that Constance Bacon and John Greenleaf on Saturday, May 25, at Lenox. With the country round about in the height of its May blossom freshness, the most beautiful bride of the year and a group of dashing and youthful attendants, the affair cannot fail to be the most picturesque as well as the most fashionable of the season.

Miss Bacon is the youngest of Mrs. William B. Bacon's five of distinguished daughters, and by many is considered the belle of the Vincent Club, of which she is a valued member.

The ceremony will take place at Trinity Church, Lenox, and the bride, in her gown of liberty satin and point lace, will be attended by her sister Emily as maid of honor; Elsie Bacon, her eldest sister, who will wear Joseph Lovering of Commonwealth avenue next autumn; Miss Martha Bacon, daughter of Robert Bacon, assistant secretary of the navy, and Miss Abigail Schenck, both favorite cousins of the bride; Miss Rosemond Dixon, one of the past season's most popular brides; Miss Beulah Stone and Alice Bowler of the Vincent Club. They will be gowned alike in light blue, with hats to match.

Robert Bacon will give the bride in marriage.

If C. Greenleaf, Jr., will be his brother's best man, and the ushers are J. T. Mills, J. W. Cross, F. W. Allen, J. N. Bands, J. McEl, Walton, David T. Davis, F. W. Frank and R. P. Funt.

Mr. Greenleaf, who is a son of Dr. and Mrs. William Greenleaf of New York and Lenox, is a 30-year-old man, and of the bride are of Lenox.

An afternoon reception and breakfast will follow the ceremony at the hands-on estate of the bride's mother near by.

After an extended wedding tour Mr. and Mrs. Greenleaf will reside in New York.

SOCIETY GIRLS SEEK OLD AND SIMPLE CUSTOMS OF WEDDING DAYS LONG AGO

Fair Fiancees Now Defy Severe Rules of Present Day and Turn to Beauties of Rural Ceremony.

By a Society Woman.

THE Boston society girl has finally banished her declaration of independence as a social custom, and is now concerned, and is marrying when she is in the prime of her youth, and she is not only able to do so, but she is also able to do so in a way that is both simple and old-fashioned.

It is a fact that the society girl of today is not only able to do so, but she is also able to do so in a way that is both simple and old-fashioned. She is now able to do so in a way that is both simple and old-fashioned.

Rest of the World Needs More of Boston.

Last, but not least, as for the man she chooses, he is more likely than not to be a "man of the world" with not a trace of Boston blood in his veins. He is as apt to be an unassuming minister or a young fellow with all his future and fortune to make as one who already has much in the way of worldly goods with which to endow his bride. He is as apt to be a man of the world with not a trace of Boston blood in his veins.

Vincent Girl to Wed Clergyman.

A quiet though very important event will be that on Friday, at St. Mark's Church, Southboro, of Miss Lill of Lenox and the Rev. Mr. Bishop, former minister of the church. The ceremony will be held at the Vincent Club, and will be attended by a large number of guests. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Vincent, and the groom is the Rev. Mr. Bishop.

Bishop Lawrence to Officiate.

The ceremony will be performed at 11 a. m. by Bishop William Lawrence, assisted by the Rev. William Greenleaf, rector of St. Mark's. The decorations will be entirely of flowers, and the bride, in her gown of white liberty satin and lace, will be attended by her sister, Miss Lella Burnett, who was the beauty of the Vincent Club some two years ago.

Harry Burnett will give the bride away.

Among the guests at the wedding are Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Thayer, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Wadsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ford of New York, Dr. and Mrs. L. P. Bishop, Dr. and Mrs. James Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Vincent, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Stoddard, Charles F. Choate, Mr. and Mrs. C. Greenleaf, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Handford, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cunningham and Miss Gertrude Penabaz.

Fall Captives to Gay and Busy Cupid.

Cupid, taking advantage of the Springtime heat of young men's fancies, is waging his annual battle with conquests innumerable to his credit, and the latest engagement to surprise the smart set is that of Miss Marian Lewis of Brookline to Mr. John L. Vincent of Lenox.

Miss Lewis is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis (Marion Gray) of Brookline, and although the pretty girl is in that vibrant age when the heart is open to every temptation, she is not only able to do so, but she is also able to do so in a way that is both simple and old-fashioned.

Comes of Family of Beautiful Women.

Mrs. Lewis comes of a family noted for its beautiful women, and though the number of two granddaughters, take more like their sister than their mother. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis (Marion Gray) of Brookline, and although the pretty girl is in that vibrant age when the heart is open to every temptation, she is not only able to do so, but she is also able to do so in a way that is both simple and old-fashioned.

Fashion to Witness Wedding at Trinity.

A wedding of fashionable importance to be celebrated at Trinity on Tuesday is that of Miss Lill of Lenox and the Rev. Mr. Bishop, former minister of the church. The ceremony will be held at the Vincent Club, and will be attended by a large number of guests. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Vincent, and the groom is the Rev. Mr. Bishop.

After the wedding, the bride and groom will spend some time in Lenox, and then they will return to New York.

"YOU HAVE BROKEN FAITH WITH ME," SCHMITZ SAYS TO RUEF.

Corrupted Mayor of San Francisco Discloses They Were in Confession Compact. EX-BOSS BEATS HIM OUT OF COMMITTEE OF SEVEN HAS SCHMITZ'S WRITTEN PROMISE TO DO HIS WILL. EXPECT FIVE INDICTMENTS TO CHARGE THAT FORMER MAYOR TOOK BRIBES AND ATTEMPTED EXTORTION.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—"You have broken faith with me, Abe Ruef," said Mayor James D. Schmitz to the indicted political boss, Abraham Ruef, who on Wednesday turned down, without comment, Schmitz's offer to give every detail concerning the bribes which have been promised in San Francisco since the fire. In each case he will mention the name of his ex-mayor, Schmitz, and tell the exact sum of money the latter received.

It has developed that Schmitz and Ruef, then closely allied, made a compact at the beginning of Francis J. Brown's and William J. Burke's administrations, by which they agreed that neither of them would make any attempt to give every detail concerning the bribes which have been promised in San Francisco since the fire. In each case he will mention the name of his ex-mayor, Schmitz, and tell the exact sum of money the latter received.

HOW ALL THIS IS MADE POSSIBLE

It all comes about through the business enterprise of the well-known COSMOPOLITAN MAGAZINE, which is engaged in an unusual and highly successful effort to add 50,000 desirable new subscribers to its list—making a round half million in all. To do this quickly it is offering THE CENTURY set as a premium inducement—an inducement which makes the strongest sort of an appeal to every one that prizes what is best in books.

Plan of THE CENTURY

In compiling THE CENTURY the aim of the editors was to produce a work which would be really full in every line, combining as far as possible all knowledge, whether previously scattered through a multitude of books or never before contained in any book. An arrangement was adopted which makes each item instantly accessible under its own heading. To-day we do not wish to limit through a long description of the "new" to find the description of a "new" spot. We wish to turn at once to "new" spot. THE CENTURY, by pursuing this plan, has increased enormously the number of encyclopedic features so that it has probably 100,000 more articles than any other encyclopedia.

As a Dictionary, THE CENTURY is the most comprehensive in the language. It gives every shade of meaning of every word, amplified by illustrations, questions and synonyms, defining for the first time, an exhaustive collection of technical terms employed in the sciences, arts, trades and professions.

As an Encyclopedia, it covers far more ground than any other, for to the scientific knowledge generally found in such works it adds for its possible all knowledge, whether previously scattered through a multitude of books or never before contained in any book. An arrangement was adopted which makes each item instantly accessible under its own heading. To-day we do not wish to limit through a long description of the "new" to find the description of a "new" spot. We wish to turn at once to "new" spot. THE CENTURY, by pursuing this plan, has increased enormously the number of encyclopedic features so that it has probably 100,000 more articles than any other encyclopedia.

As an Atlas, THE CENTURY is the latest and best published. It covers the whole world thoroughly and with absolute correctness in every detail, showing the most recent political changes, famous battle-fields, with dates, routes of exploring parties, etc., making of the maps in many ways a practical history of the world.

In a word, THE CENTURY is the great "question-answer"—the shortest path through the whole realm of facts. It is the best of all books, and by far the most useful to every reader after knowledge, and especially to help the young folks in their studies. For the latter purpose alone it should be in every home.

Our Distribution Soon Closes: You Must Act Promptly

The distribution for New England has been so great a success that the allotment will soon be exhausted, and it will therefore be necessary for you to act without delay in order to make sure of a CENTURY set at the little price.

If possible, come to our Book Department and inspect this superb edition in the different bindings. See for yourself what an attractive and valuable library and educational offering is presented, and at what an exceptional bargain. If you cannot call, and still desire to examine the volumes, you may, just now, send the initial dollar, and we will forward you a full set to your home for examination, and you may have five days in which to test the work as to your own particular needs, with privilege of return and money refunded. Their convenience has authorized us to do this, temporarily, because the Magazine desires everyone interested in THE CENTURY to have the fullest knowledge about the work itself (and especially regarding this revised, enlarged and improved edition for 1907), so as to be able to come quickly to an intelligent decision and secure one of the sets before the distribution closes. In requesting a set for examination, you may use Paragraph 1 of the Request Form, printed, for your convenience, at the right.

If, however, you prefer specific, printed information about the work, you may use Paragraph 2 of the Form, and we will send you free, by mail, THE CENTURY Co.'s 64-page descriptive Book. No

"GIRLS' ATHLETIC FERVOR FORETELLS SUPERIOR RACE"

Exhibition of Skill at Vassar's Meet Leads to Statement by Harvard's Physical Director.

THAT the girls of New England excel in athletics, largely due to the fact that they have received excellent training in the primary schools, that is what Dr. Dudley Allen Sargent, director of a bureau and physical instructor at Harvard University, who observes a superior race equaling the ancient Greeks, as a result of athletic training.

Dr. Sargent was one of the most interested spectators at the field meet at Vassar a week ago, Friday, in which Miss Helen Dorothy Clarke, of No. 1 Autumn street, Haverhill, Mass., won the 100-yard race, and Miss Helen A. Gardner, of Stratford, Ct., won the 200-yard race.

NEW ENGLAND'S COLLEGE
MAIDS EXCEL WESTERNERS

By Dr. Dudley Allen Sargent.

The reason that New England girls excel in athletics in the leading colleges today is a simple one. They have had more training in their childhood and in the primary schools. Western girls are naturally stronger and more vigorous, but they do not train as much. They have strength, but have never learned how to apply it.

I attended the field meet at Vassar last week. From what I saw I am impressed with the fact that Vassar College stands at the head of women's athletics in the United States. Miss Mithell of London won the prize as best all-around athlete.

Young women and girls who do not go to higher grade schools and colleges and even those who make athletes of themselves. If they avail themselves of the numerous gymnastics in the country and always practice laws of hygiene in living. It will astonish them if they devote but an hour a day to intelligent exercise to find how they develop.

When the interest in physical recreation has become so general we know that the average length of life has been increased and that there is much less sickness and invalidism among all classes. This is especially true of women and children, to whom attention given to physical exercise and healthful living has been a great boon.

Makes Them Taller and Heavier.

Among college women there has been a perceptible increase in average height and weight during the past twenty-five years. Their improved physical condition may be accepted as an indication of the beneficial results of athletic training and unlimited outdoor exercise before they come to college.

Of the old and widespread theory in physical training among both sexes on time during the present century, the powerful influence of heredity, as well as the benefits of accumulated knowledge, will ever alone sustain itself and men and women will become like the ancient Greeks, a superior people.

Acreage Sales Become of Great Rarity in Boston

Old Governor Rollins Estate in Milton Sold at Auction in Three Lots.

A rare sale of land in the city of Boston, and one of the largest in the city, was held at the residence of the late Governor Rollins, in Milton, on Saturday last. The estate was sold in three lots, and the total acreage was 100.00 acres.

The first lot, containing 40.00 acres, was sold to the Boston & Maine Railroad Company for $100,000. The second lot, containing 30.00 acres, was sold to the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company for $150,000. The third lot, containing 30.00 acres, was sold to the Boston & Maine Railroad Company for $100,000.

It is not the big authors alone but the big subjects they write on which make a magazine appeal to you—its readers.

The fact that many big authors have written for June Cosmopolitan means nothing. But the fact that many big authors have written on many big subjects (both fact and fiction) compels your attention.

HERE ARE A FEW:

JACK LONDON makes a comparison and describes a phase of life that few, very few, people know anything about.

ELEANOR GATES tells a typical breezy Western story that she alone can do so well. "A Run for Material" tangles with intrigue throughout.

OWEN KILDARE tells what life means to him, a one time pugilist and a notorious politician, now a man who is devoting his life to the highest ideals.

BRUNO LESSING'S story, "Renunciation," will bring tears to the driest eyes. It is not mawkish in its sentiment, but will find a deep, strong, responsive chord of sympathy in every human heart—in you.

LEE ANDERSON'S remarkable little story, "The King's Great Victory," is the tale of a little child that "grown-ups" once having read it, will read again and again, and tell their friends about it.

JOHN H. GIRDNER, M. D., writes an authoritative article in popular style on the phenomena of "Sleep and Death." This article is really a remarkable contribution to an inexhaustible subject.

HUB COUPLE PAID $1,200

Captain Hoffman, New Master, Lauds Work of Predecessor.

To Try to Do as Well.

On the eve of his departure from the Deer Island House of Correction from the position of master of which he has been removed by Mayor Fitzgerald, James R. Gerrish, last night, told the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN the first complete story of the amazing conditions which, he says, exist at the island prison.

He alleges that a riot among the 1,000 convicts is imminent because of a lack of discipline caused by the interference of Mayor Fitzgerald by Commissioner John H. Morone, and that fifty prisoners in the hospital are now on the verge of an outbreak.

"Until they are removed from the island," he said, "the situation is hopeless. The discipline among the prisoners is being destroyed by the Mayor's interference."

Some Gerrish Charges.

Here are some of the other charges made by Mr. Gerrish:

"That Mayor Fitzgerald through power of his office is selling pardons to the convicts for as much as $1,000 each."

CONSPIRACY CHARGE AGAINST MAJOR CREATES BIG SENSATION.

McLaughlin, in Suit, Will Alleged Plot to Bar Him as Hospital Architect.

MAYOR LAUGHS AT STORY

Says He Refused to Approve Contract on Life of Counselor Babson.

DOUBTS IF CASE IS TRIED

Architect Is Nephew of McGahy, Ousted by Fitzgerald as Building Commissioner.

That startling evidence involving Mayor Fitzgerald in a conspiracy to prevent James F. McLaughlin from being chosen as architect of the new Boston Consumptive Hospital, to be built on the site of the old hospital, will be introduced at the trial of Architect McLaughlin against the Mayor, was the claim of a friend of McLaughlin's.

Members of the Mayor's own board of trustees of the Consumptive Hospital will be called, it is said, to testify that they were present at a meeting of the board in which the Mayor was alleged to have been guilty of a conspiracy to prevent McLaughlin from being chosen as architect of the new hospital.

The action of Mr. McLaughlin yesterday in applying to the Mayor for a contract to build the new hospital, was the result of a conspiracy to prevent him from being chosen as architect of the new hospital, it is alleged.

It is alleged that the Mayor, through the influence of his friends, was able to secure the appointment of a committee to select the architect of the new hospital, and that this committee was composed of men who were friendly to the Mayor.

POLICE HUNT "BREAKER"

Imported Driver Said to Have Discharged Pistol at Crowd of Boys.

RESPONSIBILITY for prolonging the teamsters' strike is placed upon President George B. Hugo of the local strike-breaking Employers' Association by the union men of Greater Boston.

The teamsters' union know that the master teamsters who have been fighting them are anxious for a settlement and that they would have submitted their differences with the men to a board of arbitration had it not been for President Hugo.

President Hugo and J. J. Feeler, a lawyer, who has lately been revealing the master teamsters' have previously advised against any form of a settlement that would not give complete victory to the master teamsters, and the eight "strike" firms have been leading their advance.

Holds Hugo Responsible.

In a statement which he gave to the Boston Herald, Hugo said that last night Boston Agent David J. Tobin, of Tobin Brothers' firm, No. 25, Avenue President Hugo, was standing in the way of a settlement.

The teamsters' strike is being prolonged, he said, because of the fact that the master teamsters prefer to pay for a fight in the hands of a few men, who know nothing whatever of the teamsters' union, than to settle the matter with the union men.

BOXING AT ILL READY FOR SOLOMAN WRESTLING CLAYTON TO MEET HANAN TROTTING MANY BRUSHES ON SPEEDWAY FOOTBALL

Form vs. Ginger.

By Julian Hawthorne.

THE little sprint on the Charles had work between Harvard and Columbia should be a valuable object lesson to both crews and to college rowers everywhere. A lot of "veterans"—as we call men here who have rowed in a race once or twice before—met a crew of sturdy and determined novices and were beaten. The reason was that the latter were animated by the simple and simple idea that it was their business to row as hard as they could as the way and cross the finish line ahead, while the former were thinking about "form" and orthodox oarsmanship, and held back their real effort until it was too late to be of any use. It was the same mistake that Harvard made last year against the English Cambridge—a crew not so strong as they were and not so well trained. Harvard rowed in a smooth, great style on that occasion and finished faster than the Englishmen did; but they were beaten, nevertheless, because they neglected for some reason or other to do all that was in them. One end of the crew to the other. What is the good of looking pretty and following rules if you let the other fellows get in ahead of you?

HARVARD MADE A MISTAKE.

The two oars were only a sprint, and a crew really skilled in watermanship would have realized that it should be pulled throughout nearly at top speed—unless, of course, the opposing crew was manifestly inferior. But Harvard went to work as if they had before them all the distance and all the chances of a four-mile journey. Form and rules are good things in their proper place. They should be perfectly studied during practice; but when you are actually side by side with your antagonist you must think of ginger first and of anything else afterwards. If you are so well versed in the art and science of oarsmanship as to be able to row for all there is in you and yet to keep in force so much the better, of course; but if in a race you have to choose between form and ginger, choose ginger every time. You may finish raked and pumped out, but there is a moral advantage in victory; and there is a logic in it superior to rules.

COLUMBIA WILL TAKE HEART.

This advantage and logic will show their effect in the Columbia crew this season. The fact that they have defeated Harvard will make them a more difficult crew to defeat in their future races. There are a few lot of young fellows, to begin with, and pride, ambition and success will make them keep on improving every day. Harvard, on the other hand, having lost confidence in the principle on which she had depended to win, and not having yet learned the other, will be less formidable. They may have time to profit by their error before the day at New London; but Columbia, at any rate, has varied well, and her fans will do well to beware of her.

Julian Hawthorne.

OLDSMOBILE

ROADABILITY—STYLE

No automobile in the world was designed into as many as 100,000 tests solely for the purpose of proving Roadability. The Oldsmobile. The value of these tests to the average owner, who may never get the second breaking lever, is in the absolute proof that in choosing an Oldsmobile he is securing a car of standard construction, efficient weight, of more than ample power, of durability, low body, long life, perfect control and perfect service. Gracious bump at all angles perfectly with the car's performance, smart equipment and a park outfit. All have in thousands of friends for the Oldsmobile among owners who may never have occasion to learn a new beautiful machine. A perfect combination of Style for the city and Roadability for the country, make the Oldsmobile the first and last choice of discriminating automobilists.

CUMMINGS WARNS AGAINST "SUGAR-COATED" MEASURE

In an interesting review of the Birrell Home Rule bill, and what it means to the people of Ireland, Mr. Cummings, through the BOSTON HEBREW AMERICAN, has written a light but accurate measure which he calls "sugar-coated."

By Joseph O'Shaughnessy. In May 18.—When the Irish nation was told that the Home Rule bill was to be introduced in the House of Commons, the Irish people were told that the Home Rule bill was to be introduced in the House of Commons.

By Matthew Cummings. National President, Ancient Order of Hibernians. True sons of Ireland, who will attend the convention at Dublin Tuesday, have a solemn duty to perform. If they have the sense of Ireland at heart they will have the sense of Ireland at heart.

"LIVE IN THE PRESENT." COUNSELS BISHOP

Noted Prelate of Rochester, N. Y., third oldest in the United States, and closest friend of Archbishop Williams, outlines rules for laymen.

Bishop M'Quaid Points Way to Righteous Living

Live for God, for America and yourselves.

Live in the present and in your own locality. Forget the past. Make all the money you can—honestly; then know how to spend it. Interest yourselves in politics. Know what your party is doing. Be true to yourselves. In my city we consider schools of even greater importance than churches. Care first for the child that makes the youth, then for the youth that makes the man—Bishop M'Quaid's rules for a righteous life.

"Get Rich Honestly, Live in the Present, Forget the Past," Says Venerable Bishop McQuaid.

"Live for God, for America and for yourselves," is the advice of Rt. Rev. Bernard McQuaid, Catholic bishop of Rochester, N. Y., who has been in Boston attending the ceremony in connection with the presentation of the Lecture medal to Miss Katharine E. Corway.

Bishop McQuaid, who is the third oldest Catholic bishop in the United States, and the closest personal friend of Archbishop Williams of Boston, believes that those who obey the following rules will lead a righteous life:

Live in the present and in your own locality and sphere. Forget the past; give up more than passing attention to the affairs of distant lands. Be not guided by the actions of others.

Make Money—Honestly.
Live for God, for America, and for your selves.
"Make all the money you are able to make honestly, and know how to spend it. Teach this principle to your children."

"Money is needed in this life to carry on work of any sort. Spend it for education and for the betterment of yourselves and your fellow-men."

"Interest yourselves in politics. Know what your party is doing and follow every move of your government, not only in the present but in the future."

Because there are several applicants for the position of milk and vinegar inspector in Cambridge, which becomes vacant June 1 by the promotion of Mr. A. P. Norris to be medical inspector of the Board of Health, Mayor Warrenton of that city is considering the wisdom of ordering an examination of the candidates under the Civil Service Commission.

Although physicians have held this position for the past it is one that does not necessarily call for the appointment of a physician. A thorough knowledge of chemistry is, however, a requisite.

Proclamation

Whereas, Providence is one of the most enterprising, prosperous and enlightened cities; Rhode Island, one of the most enterprising, prosperous and enlightened states in America; and

Whereas, The people of Providence and of Rhode Island are most public spirited, most progressive and most appreciative of "the joy of living"; and

Whereas, Rhode Island people seek wholesome, novel and inspiring summer entertainment of a scope and character equal to that provided at summer resorts, such as Revere Beach in Massachusetts, Coney Island in New York and certain other sister commonwealths; and

Whereas, The importance of Providence, East Providence, Providence River and Narragansett Bay as ideal summer resorts is an established fact; and

Whereas, Nowhere in America is there a spot to compare with the Providence River for that luscious, palate-tickling bivalve, the festive oyster, or the delicious clam; and

Whereas, The Rhode Island clambake and Rhode Island shore dinner is a world-famous institution;

Therefore, We, The Vanity Fair Company, a Rhode Island corporation, by virtue of the right vested in us by charter with the state of Rhode Island, proposing to construct, inaugurate and operate a mammoth summer resort, unequalled in area, unexcelled in the novelty, variety, beauty and scope of its attractions, and the miscellaneousness of its entertainments, do hereby appoint

Saturday, the Twenty-fifth Day of May, in the year of grace 1907, as the day for general rejoicing in the Township of East Providence, the City of Providence, the State of Rhode Island and adjoining states as well, and this rejoicing shall continue all summer long, that, during this period VANITY FAIR and its manifold attractions, its "pay" shows and free shows shall be in full operation.

Therefore, That the thousands, tens of thousands and hundreds of thousands of pleasure seekers who shall visit VANITY FAIR may be intelligently entertained and abundantly satisfied,

Be It Resolved, That this Exposition shall have no superior, either in the amplitude or the merits, the ingenuity or the genuineness of its exhibits; that educational features shall be given first consideration; that the amusements provided shall be of a wholesome and invigorating character; that all the fascinating, twentieth century summer outdoor shows shall be provided; and that VANITY FAIR shall be the park beautiful, the park triumphant, affording ample enjoyment, the fullest protection, the right moral atmosphere for all, even for little children.

Be It Further Resolved, That the good people of East Providence, of Providence, of Rhode Island, Connecticut, Massachusetts and elsewhere shall be most cordially invited to participate in the pleasures and the benefits of VANITY FAIR by trooping thereto "horse, foot and dragoons."

Whereas, It seems to be the universal opinion that VANITY FAIR shall be accorded the heartiest support, and shall attain immediate and lasting popularity, provided the amusements and entertainments supplied are of the highest order of excellence;

Therefore, Be It Resolved, That they shall include among other sterling exhibits FIGHTING THE FLAMES, a soul-stirring and supremely realistic fire spectacle, a conflagration in a city square, with fire department to the rescue—SHOOT-THE-CHUTES, the loftiest and longest slide ever constructed, having all the latest improvements—INFANT INCUBATORS, Vanity Fair's most instructive and scientific exhibit, showing prematurely born infants, and the most improved method of saving these tiny mites of humanity—JAPANESE CONGRESS, with representatives of the Flowery Kingdom playing games and dispensing Japanese favors—SCENIC THEATRE, one of the pictorial and animated delights of VANITY FAIR—BALLROOM DE LUXE, the largest, airiest and cheeriest, as well as the most beautiful Ballroom in New England—THE COLLEGE INN, a restaurant of the most approved and most modern type, superb in its accommodations and perfect in its cuisine—CLAMBAKE PAVILION, mammoth in its proportions and fulfilling every requirement—FREE FOR ALL, Select Band Concerts every afternoon and evening—OPEN AIR CIRCUS, every afternoon and evening—the programme for the opening week to include such "headliners" as Wormwood's performing bears, dogs and monkeys; Paula Piquet, European equilibrist; George and George, comedy triple bar act; Chick and Chicklets, in their famous bicycle act; Work and Ower, comedy acrobatic act; Mile. Omega, novelty tight wire act; The Harringtons, aerial ring act; Wahlund Tekla Trio, European novelty act. A host of other attractions.

Whereas, It is the earnest and sincere desire of The Vanity Fair Company that no good citizens of Rhode Island or of New England shall be deprived of the opportunity of participating in the delights of this mammoth and magnificent summer resort and amusement exposition;

Therefore, Be It Resolved, That the price of admission shall be 10 cents and no more.

Given this day under our hand and seal

The Vanity Fair Company.
